Center for Children, Families & Communities

Improving the lives of children and families through research, training and service.

SERVICES

FOR CHILDREN & FAMILIES

PARENT-CHILD INTERACTION THERAPY (PCIT) is an innovative, evidence-based treatment for families with children 2- to 7-years-old who show serious behavior problems. PCIT helps children with problems such as aggression, defiance, attention, deficits and poor attachment. PCIT is also effective for families in which abuse has occurred.

FAMILY CAMP is a program for families with young children who are seeking to gain new, positive ways of strengthening the parent-child relationship or to build their child's resilience.

OTHER EVIDENCE-BASED TREATMENTS. We provide state-of-the-science help for children and families for a variety of issues including:

- Depression · Anxiety and Stress
- Grief · Behavior Problems
- Anger · Family Conflict
- Parenting · Child Abuse

FOR THERAPISTS & COMMUNITY AGENCIES

PROGRAM EVALUATION AND DEVELOPMENT. We partner with community agencies locally and nationally to evaluate their existing programs and services, and—when needed—can help adapt, implement, and evaluate new programs.

RESEARCH CONSULTATION. Are you completing a grant proposal? Seeking an evidence-based program? Trying to answer a question about child development, risk factors, or interventions? We provide consultation, grant-writing assistance, and research reviews to help you address your needs.

AGENCY/THERAPIST TRAINING. For licensed therapists who are interested in becoming certified in Parent-Child Interaction Therapy, we provide training and consultation that is vetted and approved by PCIT International, the authoritative organization in PCIT (www.PCIT.org).

PCIT TRAINER TRAINING. For PCIT therapists who would like to develop their expertise in order to become PCIT trainers, we provide workshops and consultation vetted and approved by PCIT International (www.PCIT.org).
