Nomination Criteria for CMU Journalism Hall of Fame

1. Alumni are eligible 10 years after graduation from Central Michigan University. Faculty and staff are eligible upon retirement. Those who leave CMU for other professional pursuits must have worked in the department at least five years. Honorary induction status may be awarded to special friends and supporters based on outstanding service and commitment to the Department of Journalism and/or Student Publications.
2. Candidates must have majored or minored in journalism, worked for Student Publications or served as a faculty or staff member in the Department of Journalism.
3. Candidates must have demonstrated distinguished service to the journalism profession in news editorial, digital media, public relations, advertising or photography. They must have upheld the ethics and standards that are part of the journalism heritage.
4. Candidates also must have demonstrated significant contributions to their communities in the form of public service or civic leadership.
5. Nominations require a minimum of three but no more than five letters of support from those within the profession and from those within their communities attesting to the candidate's accomplishments. Other relevant documentation may be included.
6. The Hall of Fame Selection Committee is composed of the Chair of the Journalism Department, a current Journalism Department faculty member, the Director of Student Publication and no more than two other CMU Journalism Hall of Fame inductees.
7. Administration of the CMU Journalism Hall of Fame shall fall under the leadership of the Director of Student Publications, supported by members of the Hall of Fame operating committee.
