

Advancing Excellence

The Herbert H. and Grace A. Dow College of Health Professions Strategic Plan, 2017 - 2022

In 1997, the College of Health Professions was established in conjunction with a university-wide reorganization of academic units. The college consisted of two departments, the Department of Communication Disorders and the Department of Health Promotion and Rehabilitation. In 1998, the Department of Physical Education and Sport joined the college. Today the college supports two departments (Department of Communication Sciences and Disorders, Department of Physical Education and Sport), two schools (School of Health Sciences, School of Rehabilitation and Medical Sciences), and an interdisciplinary major.

The college is home to a vibrant academic community defined by its professionalism, compassion, and cooperation. The faculty and staff are committed to providing learning opportunities to students aspiring to enter careers in healthcare, wellness, teaching or sport management.

The goals and initiatives within the plan are interdependent and designed to: maximize student success; encourage and guide creativity and discovery (evidence-based); take care of people; advocate humanitarianism; develop partnerships; create learning opportunities; develop citizenship amongst the students, faculty and staff; and embrace the values of Central Michigan University.

Vision Statement

The Herbert H. and Grace A. Dow College of Health Professions is to be nationally recognized for the development of professionals who contribute to an inclusive, healthy society.

Mission Statement

Through The Herbert H. and Grace A. Dow College of Health Professions, we foster and sustain a culture of excellence through collaborative clinical/professional practice, learner-centered education, leadership, research and service.

Core Values

To achieve our mission, we adhere to the core values of integrity, respect, compassion, inclusiveness, social responsibility, excellence, and innovation adopted by the Board of Trustees, December 2, 2010.

Definition of Terms:

Academic Service Learning - A form of experiential education in which students engage in activities that address human and community needs together with structured opportunities intentionally designed to promote student learning and development. Reflection and reciprocity are key concepts of service-learning. (Jacoby, Service-Learning in Higher Education, 1996)

At CMU: Credit-bearing courses that have achieved the SL Course Designation as outlined by the Senate Committee on Academic Service Learning.

Service Learning - a teaching and learning strategy that integrates meaningful community service with instruction and reflection to enrich the learning experience, teach civic responsibility, and strengthen communities.

» An instructor may require students to be engaged in a service activity, but the course does not have the CMU SL Course Designation.

Volunteer - the engagement of students in activities where the primary emphasis is on the service being provided and the primary intended beneficiary is clearly the service recipient.

Active Learning - is the process whereby students engage in activities that promote analysis, synthesis and evaluation of class content. Strategies may include:

1. Think, Pair, Share
2. Minute Paper & Peer Review
3. Four Corners
4. Case Studies
5. Discussion
6. Simulation/Role Playing
7. Gallery Walk
8. Jigsaw
9. Cooperative Learning
10. Problem-based Learning

Community Outreach - the practice of offering support to community members; providing outreach services at locations where those in need are by delivering services, raising awareness of services and/or serving an educational role.

Culture/Cultural Opportunities - Culture is the characteristics and knowledge of a particular group of people, defined by everything from language, religion, cuisine, social habits, music and arts. Opportunities allow students to expand their understanding of different cultures, and engage with their own identities.

Humanitarianism - the promotion of human welfare.

Interdisciplinary - involving a combination of two or more academic disciplines into one activity.

Internationalization - the process of integrating an international, intercultural, or global dimension into the purpose, functions or delivery of postsecondary education.

Reflective Learning - a way of allowing students to step back from their learning experience to help them develop critical thinking skills and improve future performance by analyzing their experience. The activity may include, but not limited to, self-review, peer review, reflective journaling or log.

Transformative - causing or able to cause a change, especially causing someone's life to be different or better in some important way.
