Admission Requirements

To be considered for admission to the Master's in Health Administration program, students must have completed a four-year bachelor's degree from an accredited college or university. Any major is accepted, although the student must be dedicated to the profession and should demonstrate the core competencies required to succeed in the program.

Requirements for Admission

• Graduation from an accredited undergraduate degree program. Students who have graduated from a program certified by AUPHA will be given preferential consideration.

• A Minimum GPA (grade point average) of 3.0, on a U.S. 4.0 scale. Applicants with an overall GPA of less than 3.00 may be considered for regular admission if they have a 3.00 GPA in the last 60 hours of course work. Conditional admission may be considered for an applicant with a lower GPA if the student has earned at least a 3.0 GPA for the last 60 hours of their undergraduate coursework.

• A Resume, which should include: educational experience, professional goals and objectives, work history, and professional experiences, memberships, and/or participation in professional activities. Please note that students with no work experience will be considered, although there will be an internship required before graduation.

• A Statement of Purpose (500 to 1,000 words in length). This is a personal statement that conveys the applicant's reasons for pursuing a graduate degree in health administration, and how admission to the CMU program relates to the applicant's professional aspirations.

• Three Letters of Reference. Each reference letter should attest to the applicant's ability and likelihood to successfully complete the program.

• No entrance exams are required. However, students may submit GMAT or GRE scores if they believe the scores will strengthen their application.

• English Competency. International students from countries where English is not the primary language of instruction must submit an official score from the TOEFL Internet Based Test (TOEFL iBT exam). Applicants must have a minimum overall score of 94; and minimum scores of 22 for Reading, 22 for Listening, 26 for Speaking, and 24 for Writing. Comparable scores on alternate exams, such as Pearson's or IELTS, may be considered.

Conditional Admission

Conditional Admission may be considered for students who do not fully meet all of the requirements for regular admission. Applicants wishing to be considered for Conditional Admission must submit a rationale which will then be reviewed by the program before a final decision is made. If Conditional Admission is granted, the student must earn at least a 3.0 GPA during the first nine credits taken in the program.

Transfer Students

Students may transfer up to nine credits from another regionally accredited graduate degree program, provided the student earned a grade of 3.0 or better in each class.
