The Business Roundtable is a responsive team of successful leaders who individually and collectively advance CMU’s College of Business.

- Making sense of complexity and change
  Collaborate with other senior executives to keep the CBA on the leading edge of thinking and practice in business.

- Connecting with business
  Offer today’s students the competitive advantage of direct contact with corporate executives.

- Building on a solid foundation
  Partner in transforming the College of Business—help build the CMU CBA Foundation, launch a venture fund to support CMU venture start-ups, or incubate new avenues for success.

- Leading by example
  Invest in a meaningful way to the College through personal and/or corporate means and assist in philanthropic relationship building.

According to Aristotle, the truest friendship is more than companionship, mutual hobbies, and a common network of acquaintances. Friends in the highest sense of the term are those who make a conscientious effort to inspire each other to be better in thought, in action, and in life.

Be a friend to our College.
ENGAGEMENT OPPORTUNITIES

Teach a class in your area of expertise: Join us in the fall to share the benefit of your experience with eager young minds, cheer on the Chippewas and feel the buzz of campus life all from a new executives’ residence adjacent to the College.

Judge the New Venture Competition: The University’s version of “March Madness” pits teams of budding entrepreneurs in a competition for $60,000 in start-up capital.

Chart a path: Join the dean and faculty as we anticipate the demands of a 21st century workplace; from preparation for professional certifications to curricular changes that reflect best practices and current business trends.

Guide young minds: Offer support and direction for students engaged in our diverse competitions and student organizations.
Join us as we mold the character and intellect of the next generation of leaders!