V. Special Requirements of the Course:
Students enrolled in the class are required to purchase and use Pearson’s MYMANAGEMENT LAB course management system.

All students must have ready access to an up-to-date computer with high speed Internet connectivity. Students must be able to install or arrange for the installation of specific browser plugins (such as Flash Player) and/or client side software (such as a PDF reader). Students should test computers intended for use in online coursework for basic compatibility with Central Michigan University systems and tools at global.cmich.edu/system-check.

VI. Methodology:
Lectures, discussions, small group activities/work, one research paper, an article review, a current event presentation, and a group chapter presentation. There will be a mid-term and a final examination. Students will be required to write a 10-page paper on a selected organizational behavior topic of their choosing from the textbook. More detailed information will be provided during the first class session. The format for the chapter and student presentations will be covered in class.

VII. Course Objectives:
Upon successfully completing this course, the student will be able to:

1. Examine, understand, and apply various organizational theories and concepts including decision making/problem solving, motivation, leadership, team building, goal setting, conflict management, effective communication and organizational change.
2. Critically evaluate administrative contexts and events in modern complex organizations, including the concept of organizations as systems.
3. Appraise potential limitations of current organizational theories as they apply to modern multicultural and international organizations.
4. Compare the range of possible structures and processes for meeting the goals and missions of organizations including the role of change and change processes in organizations.

5. Analyze the effects of individual, interpersonal, group/team, and organizational dynamics and interaction on organizational functions, productivity and culture.

6. Investigate and apply the primary characteristics, styles, and strategies of effective leadership to make appropriate decisions and plans for coordinating organizational goal and mission accomplishment.

7. Determine the range of problems in the work place that can be solved through an understanding of employee behavior and how that behavior affects the organization/system.

8. Demonstrate reasonable solutions to organizational dynamic problems using appropriate facts, concepts, principles, analytic techniques and theories.

9. Predict and discuss ethical issues involved in organizational dynamics and human behavior.

A student's participation grade will be based on the Instructor’s assessment of the quality of the student's constructive contributions to the learning experiences of all course participants. Participation will be evaluated on the basis of (1) the regularity of the students’ participation, (2) whether the students take the leading roles in certain discussions, (3) asking reading-informed questions about course subject matter, and (4) in a group, whether the students play the roles of leaders and followers well.

Late Assignments:
Late assignments receive zero credit unless pre-approved by the professor. All examinations must be taken on the scheduled dates unless other arrangements have been made with the professor prior to the scheduled dates.

Make-ups and Rewrites:
There will be no extra-credit assignments or extra-credit work accepted at any time during this course, unless specifically approve by the professor.

Attendance Policy:
Attendance, demonstrated in task participation, is mandatory to be able to contribute in a timely manner to course learning experiences. There will be no exceptions to this policy.
Class Participation
A participant's course participation grade will be based on the professor's assessment of the quality of the participant's constructive contributions to the learning experiences of all participants in the course.
