The PoetryJett.com / April is Poetry Month Prize

A prize of $250 awarded to the best poem written by a CMU student.

Eligibility:
Any CMU student, graduate or undergraduate, who has taken a creative writing course (ENG 294, 391, 392, 491, 492, 691, 692) during the 2015-16 academic year.

Deadline:
Submit entries at the CMU English Department office (Anspach 215) by Friday March 18th, 2016.

Entry Guidelines:
Each entrant may submit up to three typed poems of any length. Each submission must have a cover sheet with the author’s name, CMU address, phone number and email address, the titles of each poem, and the number of the creative writing course taken during the current academic year (e.g., ENG 294). The contest will be judged by the creative writing faculty, and this year’s special guest judge, the poet Jeff Kass.

This prize is administered by the Creative Writing Faculty of the Department of English, in celebration of National Poetry Month, thanks to the generous sponsorship of Mr. Jett Whitehead and PoetryJett.com. (Go to www.poetryjett.com/PoetryPrize.html for more information on this prize.)
