We are all citizens of a global community. The tremendous cultural diversity in American society and the world beyond demands that people in an ever-growing range of careers have the knowledge and communication skills to navigate cultural differences.
Program highlights
Choose from a major (31-33 credits), minor (24 credits) or certificate program (16-18 credits)

Multidiscipline curriculum draws from courses across the university and includes many University Program courses

Study abroad, internships and service-learning experiences fulfill some course requirements

Areas of study include African and African Diaspora Studies, American Indian Studies, Cultural Competency, East Asian Studies, European Studies, Latin American and Latino Studies, and Middle East and Islamic Studies

Career options
» Academia
» Central Intelligence Agency
» Finance
» Foreign Service
» Health Care
» Homeland Security
» International Business
» International Law
» Journalism
» K-12 Education
» Nonprofit Organizations
» Peace Corps
» Social Work
» State Department
» Think Tank

The Cultural and Global Studies programs are also excellent preparation for graduate studies in many fields.

For information
Cultural and Global Studies Program
Anspach Hall 106
Central Michigan University
Mount Pleasant, MI 48859
989-774-3822
www.chsbs.cmich.edu/cgl

cmuCGL