FOR CHILDREN & FAMILIES

PARENT-CHILD INTERACTION THERAPY. PCIT is an innovative, evidence-based treatment for families with children 2- to 7-years-old who show behavior problems that are beyond what is expected for their age. PCIT can help children with problems such as aggression, defiance, attention, deficits and poor attachment. PCIT is also effective for families in which abuse has occurred. Parents learn healthy discipline techniques and at the same time enhance their relationships with their children.

OTHER EVIDENCE-BASED TREATMENTS. We provide state-of-the-science assistance for children and families for a variety of issues including:

- Depression
- Anxiety and Stress
- Grief
- Behavior Problems
- Anger
- Family Conflict
- Parenting
- Personal Development

FOR THERAPISTS & COMMUNITY AGENCIES

PROGRAM EVALUATION AND DEVELOPMENT. We evaluate community organizations’ existing programs and services, and—when needed—can help adapt, implement, and evaluate new programs, services, and supports.

CAPACITY BUILDING AND TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE. We provide comprehensive consultation and/or training to community organizations in areas such as:

- Strategic Planning
- Grant Writing
- Service Access

PCIT THERAPIST TRAINING. For licensed therapists who are interested in becoming certified in PCIT, we provide training and consultation that is vetted and approved by PCIT International, the authoritative organization in PCIT.

PCIT TRAINER TRAINING. For PCIT therapists who would like to develop their expertise in order to become PCIT trainers, we provide workshops and consultation vetted and approved by PCIT International (www.PCIT.org).
