Fall in love with Women and Gender Studies!
Fall 2016 Course Offerings

WGS 100: How Gender Affects Our Lives (UP Group III-B)
Learn about the creation of gender inequalities, and explore the complexities of gender identity from historical, contemporary, intersectional, and international perspectives.

M/W 2:00-3:15 PM                      Dr. JoEllen DeLucia

WGS/REL 207-WI: Women in Religion (UP Group I-A) – Writing Intensive (WI)
Adam and Eve... and Lilith? Plus temptresses, homemakers, female monks, and goddesses!

T/Th 12:30-1:45 PM                      Dr. Laurel Zwissler

WGS/HDF 213: Introduction to Human Sexuality
Develop critical thinking skills to confront controversial issues related to human sexuality.

M/W 12:15-1:30 PM + W 3:15-4:30 PM     Dr. Jeffrey Angera
M/W 12:15-1:30 PM + W 3:15-4:30 PM     Dr. Christopher Latty

WGS/ECO 230: Women in the Economy
Study the past and present role of women in the economy as workers, both inside and outside the labor market.

T/Th 12:30-1:45 PM                      Dr. Catherine McDevitt

WGS/PSC 326: Women and Politics
Learn about women’s role in politics in the US and other contexts.

T/Th 5:00-6:15 PM                      Dr. J. Cherie Strachan

WGS 328/HST 326: Women in America (UP Group I-A)
Study the traditional position of women in American society as documented in historical, literary, and biographical sources.

M/W 11:15-12:30 AM                    Dr. Tara McCarthy

WGS/PSY 334: Psychology of Women
Explore psychological issues pertaining specifically to women in the following areas: affective and cognitive functioning, personality theories, adult role behaviors, sexuality, and physical and mental health.

T/Th 9:30-10:45 AM                      Dr. Lynn Sweeney

WGS/COM 362: Gender Communication
Learn about the role of communication in the creation and perpetuation of gender stereotypes.

M/W 2:00-3:15 PM                      Instructor TBA
M/W 3:30-4:45 PM                      Instructor TBA

WGS 497A/ENG 444: In Her Own Words: Global Feminist Perspectives
Theories, methodologies, and applications of Global Feminisms to women-authored texts in an international context.

T/Th 2:00-3:15 PM                      Dr. Maureen Eke

WGS/PHL/PSC 426: Feminist Theory
Examination of theories that describe and criticize the social, cultural and political status of women and offer alternatives to the status quo. Recommended: one course in philosophy or one of PSC 275, 326, 371, 372, 373, 378.

T/Th 12:30-1:45 PM                      Dr. Ted Clayton