

Major Controversies in Twentieth Century European and German History

HST 652A
#22218544

Professor Eric Johnson
Monday / 3:30-6:20 p.m.

This course focuses on several leading twentieth-century controversies among historians and other scholars. Among these are the First and Second World War's causes and effects, the nature of Nazi Society and the Holocaust and the roles played by Hitler, as well as victims, perpetrators, and bystanders from many countries. There will be two short essays and one long essay and weekly discussions of some of the most prominent scholarly literature involving these topics.