Master of Science in Administration Program

Central Michigan University's Master of Science in Administration (MSA) degree provides the knowledge and skills required for administrators and supervisors to function effectively in a wide variety of administrative settings, plus the specialized processes and competencies needed for a particular professional field.

The MSA requires a minimum of 36 graduate semester hours to complete the degree. The MSA degree program consists of an administrative core, an administrative concentration, and an integrative applied project.

The administrative core provides each student with a base of common knowledge and competencies required for successful professional administration. The administrative core represents 18 semester hours of required classes. CGSC students will have transfer credit for one of the six core courses.

The administrative concentration selected by each student provides for specialization in a specific career area. Eighteen semester hours are designated for an administrative concentration that allows students to develop expertise in their area of professional interest within the degree program. The following concentration options are available to the officers of the Command and General Staff College (CGSC):

The highlighted concentrations are available to Fort Leavenworth CGSC students:

- Digital Management (DM) (formerly Information Resource Management)
- Engineering Management (EM)
- Emergency Management and Homeland Security (EMHS) (formerly Integrated Homeland Security)
- General Administration (GA)
- Health Services Administration (HSA)
- Human Resources Administration (HRA)
- International Administration (IA)
- Leadership (LDR)
- Logistics and Acquisitions (LA) (formerly Acquisitions Administration)
- Philanthropy and Fundraising (PFR)
- Project Management (PM)
- Public Administration (PA)
- Recreation and Park Administration (RPA) (concentration is on hiatus)
- Research Administration (RA)
- Training and Development (TD)

The MSA program culminates in a three semester hour capstone course. One option, MSA 699, involves an integrative applied project that links the concepts explored by each student and the working world, demonstrating the unity and coherence of the student's course of study. The integrative applied project is a capstone assignment in which each student applies course content to specific administrative tasks. The other option is a directed portfolio, MSA 698, where students integrate core and concentration courses by developing a series of applied papers related to current administrative issues. All students take either the Applied Research Project in Administration course, MSA 699, or the Directed Administrative Portfolio, MSA 698.
