

One Call Moves it All Labs & Specialty Moves North American Van Lines

Procuring the services needed to move the contents of a researcher's home, lab, office, and temperature-sensitive research materials can be time-consuming. Simply obtaining and comparing three quotes to have a competitive bid for each part of the move in a timely fashion can be a challenge.

Through our contract with E&I, A-1 Freeman North American can provide quotes for all parts of these complex, sensitive moves. The contract is already competitively bid; just send one e-mail or make one phone call to start the process, and we will provide everything you need.

"I relocated from Oregon to Texas... I used A-1 Freeman North American to relocate not only my home furnishings, but my research laboratory and equipment as well. I was given reasonable quotes along with an appropriate time frame for both moves. These professionals came and packed all the items in a careful and timely manner. They were punctual and met all the deadlines that were set. Arriving in Texas, everything was unloaded carefully and arrived in good condition. The staff was courteous and easy to work with and I would definitely use A-1 Freeman again..."
