Criteria for inclusion:
- Current Central Michigan University faculty, staff and emeriti who have authored, co-authored, edited, illustrated or translated books in 2016.
- Publications bearing an imprint date of 2016 on the reverse of the title page.
- First edition of a work or later editions with substantial revisions.
- Books professionally published that have undergone editorial review.
- In general, books that are self-published should have undergone a vetting process and must meet the same standards as academic and professionally published books.
- Chapters, reprinted dissertations, and vanity press publications will not be considered.

Notes:
- A committee of three, representing the library and teaching faculty, jury the submissions for eligibility.
- Eligible faculty, staff members, and emeriti did not have to be at CMU when the book was published.
